

MAN TO ASSURE FARMER PROFIT

PREMIUMS WOULD BE KEPT ON CROP YIELD OVER NORMAL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Actual data for a crop insurance plan designed to offset damage to millions of dollars of cotton and corn acre through drought, flood and pest were being assembled today by the United States agriculture department.

Rep. M. Green, chief of a financial division, now is directing a staff at work charting the framework of a possible federal farm plan advocated by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

GREEN CONFIDENT

Green expressed confidence that basic data for crop insurance can be worked out that will be sound as present life insurance is, despite the failure of features by private corporations into the risk farm insurance in recent years.

The first farm check completed covered more than 300,000 wheat farms of more than 50,000,000 acres. Green said his staff had "sampled" the counties of representative areas in many states with data from 218 different counties.

This showed, he said, that if a farmer paid a premium of from one to two thirds of the yield above normal in good years he could be covered of a 75 per cent crop in bad years.

Action By Ottawa

Sure, Says Dunning

OTTAWA, Aug. 25.—Conditions created by successive dry spells in the Saskatchewan and Alberta have created a national problem which Charles Dunning, minister of agriculture, has said he will be met by the government, Finance Minister Charles Dunning announced today.

"It has been demonstrated to satisfaction," Mr. Dunning said, "that this is a national emergency, the cost of which must be borne largely by the people of Canada as a whole."

The finance minister announced that agreements were being considered whereby the federal government, provincial co-operation, herds in the dried out areas would be immediately reduced, and the number of cattle and sheep would be provided those in the affected areas, and of the Canadian Red Cross Society would be brought in to help in the respect to run-down and exhausted household equipment, and the number of vehicles from good soil areas would be continued.

At least 200,000 people in the dried out areas are deprived of even the value of means of livelihood, Mr. Dunning said, and in a considerable part of this area the weather conditions have existed for periods of from four to eight years.

"What we have is a development within Canada of a northern fringe of conditions which have caused so much havoc in western United States. Down there the problem has arisen so much for municipal and state aid, and conditions have existed here that have led to it over."

CALGARY, Aug. 25.—Willingness to help the federal government in meeting the drought relief problem was expressed last night by Lt. Gov. D. H. Tomlinson, Alberta's commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

"Should our headquarters ask us to assist, we should be only too glad to do so," he said.

Girl Chooses To Be Man

The liner Ile de France brought to the world a new and interesting personality in the person of "Frauline," Koubkova of Czechoslovakia. In the women's world athletic games in London in 1934, Zdenka Koubkova of Czechoslovakia, who having the choice of being a member of either sex, elected to be a man. The athlete and the "woman" of the medical record are one and the same. She has submitted to one operation already, another minor operation will be necessary before the Koubkova sex metamorphosis will be complete. On the passenger list of the Ile de France she was recorded as "Frauline," but she came in the garb of a man, as the picture attests.

U.S. CATTLE QUOTA NEAR EXHAUSTION

Increased Imports From Canada Follow Cut in Duty

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The United States Department of Agriculture imports today increased imports of cattle during the first six months of this year nearly exhausted 1934 quota for Canadian imports.

The 52,000 quota for calves, weighing 175 pounds or under, had been filled August 1 and 80.3 per cent of the 156,000 cattle allowed to enter this country under the recent tariff had come in by that date.

Under the Canadian-American trade agreement, the duty on cattle weighing 700 pounds or more was cut from three to two cents a pound while that on calves was reduced from 2½ to 1½ cents. The reduction was extended to imports from all countries with which the United States has "most favored nation" trade pacts.

The report showed that 20,000 dairy cows which could enter under the reduced duty quota, only 14,817 arrived during the first half year.

TOWNSEND IS ASKED WHERE MILLION WENT

Pensions Advocate Says Clubs Were Founded With Money

CLEVELAND, Aug. 25.—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, advocate of $200-a-month pensions for the aged, testified in a deposition hearing in connection with the receivership suit against his organization, more than $2,000,000 has been spent in organizing Townsend Clubs in the United States.

Ben Scharow, counsel for Rev. Alfred Wright, ousted director and plaintiff in the suit, stated his investigation of the Townsend organization books showed a balance of $20,913. Scharow claimed $2,500,000 had been collected since the inception of the movement.

WHERE MONEY WENT
"Would you tell us what happened to that money?" Scharow asked the pensioner.

"That's a reasonable question," Dr. Townsend replied. "We organized 5,000 separate clubs throughout the United States with that money and have accumulated more than has ever been done with a like amount of money."

Townsend testified he is not at present on the payroll of his organization, although at one time he received $200-a-month pension and "for a month or two, $100 and expenses."

Scharow said his investigation of the Townsend pensioner leader received a check of $125 last February. "That's the pension to me," he without said.

The Bennett New Deal Laws

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

The views expressed by Mr. R. T. Elliott, K.C., in this column are his own personal views, and are not necessarily those held by The Edmonton Bulletin.—EDITOR.

THE result of the reference to the Supreme Court of Canada as to the validity of the Bennett New Deal Laws brought out very definite cleavages in judicial opinion.

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has the undoubted advantage of the last word—and of not placing on record any reference to the individual opinions of the members of the court. There is just one advice to His Majesty; and the reasons of the Judicial Committee for tendering that advice are printed as the record of a single speech.

As to what will happen to the legislation when it reaches the Privy Council one can only make a prediction—which is only ventured by reason of the widespread interest in Western Canada attaching to these New Deal Laws.

The majority of the court would seem to be on firm ground, in the light of the authorities as at the date of the decision, in upholding the new section 408A of the Criminal Code which firstly, places secret discounts, rebates or allowances on the same basis as secret commissions and railway rate rebates; and secondly prohibits local union clauses for the purpose of eliminating a competitor.

The Dominion Trade and Industry Act was wiped out so far as it purported to allow the formation of trade combines under sanction of order in council; and insofar as it created a national trademark "Canada Standard" only to be used on the terms of laws passed at Ottawa. There would not be much authority left to the provinces if trade combines were legalized and a national trademark created subject only to laws passed at Ottawa.

The Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act was upheld on the ground that the Ottawa Parliament has plenary power to define what it considers to be a state of insolvency.

The Natural Products Marketing Act was wiped out as having the intended effect to transfer control over all local trade to the Dominion commission; which is not practicable "without the co-operation of the Provincial Legislatures."

The Judicial Committee will probably approve the foregoing decisions; but will likely hesitate at adopting the reasons on which the Supreme Court based its decision. The Employment and Social Insurance Act, the Canadian Parliament has power to raise money by any system of taxation; and has power to use that money for any purpose of government it sees fit. The Supreme Court has paid too much attention to the motives of Parliament and too little to its powers.

In dealing with the rest of the Acts, which are Weekly Rest, Minimum Wages, and Limitations of Hours of Work Acts, the Supreme Court seems to have gone too far on the theory that Ottawa may legislate to give effect to a Treaty, without first ascertaining from the Treaty itself a definite obligation on the part of the Dominion or of any province of Canada which must be given effect to by legislation.

The B.N.A. Act says nothing about any general power to legislate respecting a Treaty; it says (Sec. 122) that Parliament "shall have all powers necessary or proper for performing the obligations of Canada or of any province thereof under Treaties. Necessarily, the first thing to be done is to ascertain the obligation; find whether it is that of the Dominion or a province; and legislate in the terms of the obligation and not of the Treaty generally.

When you go back to the Treaty of Versailles, what the nations agreed to by Article 23 seems to be endeavour to "secure and maintain fair and humane conditions of labor for men, women and children."

This is a definite statement of international policy; but not one creating any obligation on the part of the Dominion or of any province. The Dominion is not given power by the B.N.A. Act to take over all provincial powers to protect and regulate labor pursuant to an international policy; the B.N.A. Act only applies to a definitely ascertained obligation in the words of the Treaty itself, and which can be stated in express terms as a Dominion obligation of one or more of the provinces.

Conventions and ratifications cannot extend the words of the Treaty itself. It would seem that this aspect must be carefully considered before any legislation drastically affecting the powers of the provinces can be upheld.

One thing which becomes apparent is that the modern trend of Ottawa action is to reduce provincial legislatures to about the size of village councils.

IT IS NOT TRUE THAT MUSCLES GET FATIGUED

Modern science has disproved the old theory that muscles become fatigued after prolonged activity. In the laboratory, fatigue is a matter of nerve supply, not of muscle supply.

Like new muscles it is fresh supply of nerve supply that is the key to endurance. This is believed to be the reason why the nervous system through which the muscles are controlled, rather than the muscles themselves, are the source of fatigue.

RECORDS SHATTERED IN SOUTH SIDE SWIM GALA

Matheson, Allish Set Fastest Times In Pair Of Events

Harold Sutton Also Brilliant In Brace Of Events—Cliff Parker Adds Thrills In Devil Diving

Two records fell before the determined onslaught of city swimmers last night when the annual city cup gala was staged at the South Side pool.

Bob Matheson, speedy junior from the west end club, shattered the first record when he churned the 100 yard stretch in one minute 35 seconds. Norman Allish, the sleek and lean South Side, won gave Max King a bad scare in the Wrigley mile swim, clipped nearly seven seconds from the recognized record for the mile event.

Harold Sutton counted two new titles in his list by winning the men's 80 and 100 yard events. In the shorter distance he was even a stiff race by George Jackson, of the east end squad, just managing to nose the east ender out in the last few yards. The 100 yard swim was an all out event with Sutton again leading the way with Max King and Bob Matheson taking the other two places.

RUTH WON THREE. Ruth Lett also continued her rampage through the women's events by carrying off three championships—the 80 yards, the 100 yards and the 100 yards backstroke.

Cliff Parker, who thrilled the spectators in a different manner by the dumb diving three days, this time competed with Cliff Parker, east end punter, taking the trophy. His ridiculous antics, through his ridiculous antics, through a thought of their own life or limb, were not enough to keep the spectators from laughing at the antics of these three. They were taking some awful chances to provide the spectators with the best amusement of the evening.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL COCHRANE Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

Fair Doty grabbed the rope and yelled, "Hey, Scouty, you've never heard of throwing ropes, I know it, now, but still I am perplexed."

"Unless I tie it to something, no good luck will really bring. Somebody think real fast and tell me what I should do next!"

"Well, tie it to a hunk of ice."

The large seal stopped and turned about, and when it saw the Eskimo, it flapped its little fins. "Get near that girl," the north had said. "And then, high up please hold your head. If you will do as I say, here's where some fun begins."

The funny looking seal obeyed and for a time fair Doty played just as you said. That should work around with him. And then she heard the Eskimo lad shout. "Around his neck please tie the rope. He will not shake it off, I hope. In fact, I have a hunch he knows what this is all about."

"Okay," said Doty. "Sure, I will. If your pet seal will just stand still." And then she made a large loop to drop over the big bear's head.

"Hurrah, it works," brave Scouty cried. "That's something that I'm glad we tried." "Well, what does Doty do now, lad?" another Tivy said.

"Doty starts a perilous journey in the next story."

Curious World —By William Ferguson

The MALLARD DUCK IS THE WILD ANCESTOR OF MOST OF OUR DOMESTIC DUCKS.

THE MALE VOICE IS PITCHED LOWER THAN THE FEMALE VOICE BECAUSE MEN HAVE LONGER AND STRONGER VOCAL CHORDS THAN WOMEN.

OUR NEAREST STAR IS 275,000 TIMES AS FAR AWAY AS THE SUN.

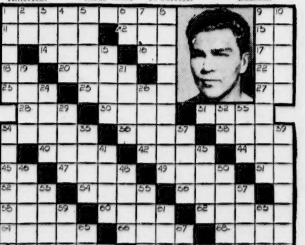

The mallard bears a close resemblance to our domestic ducks. In England it is called the stock duck, because all domestic duck stock, except one or two varieties, descended from this bird. The wild mallard, in captivity, is a prolific breeder.

MAYOR CLARKE, ALDERMAN EAST IN HOT SESSION

It would be a strange council meeting without a face-off between Mayor Clarke and Alderman James East. Monday night's meeting was no exception.

Business of council had drawn to a speedy and tranquil close. All that remained was the appointment of a deputy mayor for the next three months.

It appeared it was Alderman East's turn if the appointment was to be followed. A motion by the deputy was made.

Mayor Clarke immediately struck the motion, stating Alderman East was the only one on the aldermanic board getting $1,000.

Alderman East, his face blazing with anger, and he did not seek to be deputy.

Mayor Clarke moved an amendment that Alderman Clevie be appointed deputy mayor. The amendment was lost.

This completed the spark to the Mayor's temper. He turned the action of council "the most outrageous insult ever heaped on any mayor."

Turning to Alderman East, the Mayor shouted "I will not sit a foot from Edmonton during your period as deputy. The only money you will get out of me will be a dead end."

Alderman East quietly told the Mayor not to shout and the incident closed.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By PAUL HARRISON

B.L.D., 47-year-old Stanley Kavanagh is the last of the old-time jokers, now that W. C. Fields has quit the game. Kavanagh is following Fields into the movie, and as a comedian, too.

In "The Big Broadcast of 1937" he will be a fellow who constantly bothers Radio Producer Jack Benny for a chance to juggle on a radio amateur hour. It's a good part for a movie debut and will, he hopes, lead to some other Hollywood job. In the fall, though, he must go back to Broadway and appear again in the Ziegfeld Follies.

Kavanagh was born in Australia and began juggling things when he was 13—cricket balls, mostly. Got no good at it, by the time he was 17, he had jugged himself around the world a couple of times.

BUS LINE TO BE OPERATED IN NORTH SECTION

Provision of a bus line to serve North Edmonton was discussed at city council Monday evening following representations made by the executive of the North Edmonton Community League.

Representations were made that the establishing of such service would result in rapid development of this section. It was also pointed out that, with the erection of the Canada Packers plant, several hundred potential customers would be available for the line. At present more than 200 men were employed at the stockyards with large staffs at both the Burns and Swift plants also figuring as users of the bus.

A partial service during the morning, at noon and the evening sent blue line stub track could be abandoned.

The question of fares to be charged for trips to the stock yards was brought up by several aldermen. It was not considered feasible that the route where passengers came from the limits of his line to the centre of the city. This phase of the question will be considered by the commissioners.

The proposed route for the line is to connect with the 85 street car at 118 avenue going north on 85 street to 122 avenue, east on 122 to the Fort Road, along that road to 66 street. It was proposed the bus should make five round trips daily.

Undimmed by Premier Albert's threats to reduce interest rates on mortgages, C. S. Robertson, general manager of the Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation, left for an inspection tour of the Peace River country without taking time to see what action of the special session of parliament would take to implement the government program.

Board Proposes Big Reductions School Expenses

Continuing its efforts to reduce its controllable expenditure to the absolute minimum, the property committee of the Edmonton School board recommended economies Monday afternoon totalling $2,200.

These reductions were made pursuant to a motion of the entire board concerning the expenditures required necessary under the new intermediate school plan.

The property committee accepted the suggestion of J. M. McAfee, setting building opportunities to defer several projects that were to be initiated this year.

Despite these economies, McAfee reported that "everything is progressing favorably and will be functioning smoothly for school opening on September 1st."

The committee also approved of proposed equipment for the gymnasium at Eastwood school costing $475.
